I L L U S T R A T I O N S

Design is an opportunity to engage intimately and thoughtfully with people by creating objects, spaces and experiences which improve their lives.

Whether it's a work of art, a door handle, or the favorite room in a house, the designer's objective is to negotiate psychological desire with tactile and sensory information to create lasting connections. My studies in industrial design and architecture are the foundation to my larger practice and provide both a deep and broad resource set of skills, knowledge, and community. I earned my Master's in Visual Communication in the School of Industrial Design from the Faculty of Architecture at University of Florence in Italy. Over the past 14 years my work has taken me to from Italy to Australia and Ireland.

I currently freelance as a graphic designer and illustrator in Spain, U.K, Ireland and Italy. sara santarelli
